Mr. T. P. Sales, Superintendent of Health in Raleigh, has returned to the city from Winston-Salem with his bride, who was Miss Georgia Albia Womack, of Winston-Salem. They were married Wednesday. They leave tomorrow for the Jamestown Exposition, Washington, and other points.

There is still some hitch in the matter of fixing the date for the special train which is to be operated by the Chamber of Commerce of Raleigh over the Norfolk and Southern to Washington, N. C., in celebration of the completion of the road between the two places. The hitch now is in agreeing on some day on which Governor Glenn can go, and also suit the officials of the Norfolk and Southern, who are also to be of the party.

The negro State Fair, now in progress, is pronounced one of the most creditable the negroes have held in years. This is especially true of the agricultural exhibits, which cover the whole range of agricultural products and farm householdery.

Douglass, and Robert Strong, for the plaintiff. Judge Long reserved his ruling, which will be on the findings of Referee R. H. Battle, to whom the case was referred.

FIGHTING CITY CONTROL.

Citizens of Haymont, Recently Made a Fayetteville Ward, Complain.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., October 24.—Citizens of Haymont, the wealthiest and most populous of the city limits under an act of the Legislature, and now known as Eighth Ward, are protesting against the incorporation of the city of Fayetteville from exercising control over said Haymont on the following grounds:

That the act of the Legislature extending the corporate limits of the city of Fayetteville was not passed in accordance with the law in that it passed two readings in the Senate on the same day without roll-call, whereas the State Constitution expressly requires that there is no record of the concurrence of the Senate in certain amendments made by the House; also that the act provided that the election should be held by the people residing in the extended district only, whereas the act as amended allowed all persons to vote, including the citizens of the original seven wards; and further, that the act was set forth in the act was indefinite and did not include that portion of the extended limits as claimed by the city of Fayetteville.

The Fayetteville Realty and Insurance Company, capital $100,000, was organized to deal with the following officers: C. C. McAllister, president; A. B. Rankin, vice-president; J. G. McAllister, secretary and treasurer; Rose & Rose, attorneys.
